

about the artist...

Chris MacClure

*C*hris, a Canadian Poetic Romantic Realist Fine Art Painter, is always looking for that authentic gesture or timeless moment. His poetic paintings are an expression of his "Romantic Realist" view of life.

Born to an artistic family in St. John, NB, on the east coast of Canada, Chris was surrounded by the arts. His father was a jazz musician and his mother a playwright, His grandfather was an illustrator, so it never occurred to Chris that he couldn't do it. He assumed everyone was an artist.

During his travels, he attended Sir George University (Concordia) Fine Arts in Montreal Canada and the Emily Carr School of Art & Design in Vancouver Canada. His works have been exhibited across Canada, the USA Mexico and China

His art has found its way into the collections of John Travolta, Kirstie Alley, James Whitmore, mezzo-soprano Frederica Von Stade, drag racing legend Don Prud'Homme, Bill Clinton, Boris Yeltsin, Pepsi Co. and the Ford Motor Co. of Detroit and William & Kate the Prince of Wales and Princess of Wales At Kensington Palace England

Chris is the founder of "International Artist Day", a worldwide day celebrated each Oct 25th to honour the contributions made by all artists to humanity.

One of the founding artists of:

- Stanley Park Artist Circle Vancouver BC 1971
- Artists Walk Promenade White Rock BC 1990
- Artist Night San Jose del Cabo Baja Mexico
